MINISTER HATCH TALKS CABLE.

He Believes That it Should be Owned by Americans.

HIS VISIT EXCITES MUCH TALK.

A Ship Will Not be Sent to Honolulu Unless Congress Expressly Orders the Same to be Done. Gossip About Cleveland's Message.

F. M. Hatch, Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Hawaiian Islands, was among the passengers on the steamer Australia yesterday, and is a guest at the Occidental, says the Call of the 14th.

There was a wild-eyed rumor on the streets last night, to the effect that the gentleman named came over with dispatches of great importance, which he immediately forwarded to Minister Thurston, who had just landed in New York from a trip to England.

These dispatches were said to contain an urgent request that the Minister immediately act with this Government to dispatch a war vessel to the islands, as trouble with the royalists was expected any moment, and as there is not a single vessel representing a foreign Government at present stationed in the harbor of Honolulu, the persons and property of residents of this country would be in great danger in the event of an outbreak.

FRANCIS M. HATCH, MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS, REPUBLIC OF HAWAII.

Minister Hatch smiled when told of the rumor last night, and said there was not a word of truth in it. His mission here, he said, was to look into the matter of the laying of a cable between this city and Honolulu, and to ascertain if American capital could not be induced to undertake the work.

He says that the residents of Honolulu are opposed to asking foreign capital to undertake this work, which they believe is, or should be, a distinctly American enterprise, but that if men of means in this country could not be persuaded to enter into a proposition of this kind it would be necessary to look elsewhere for aid, as the islanders were determined that a cable should be laid.

"Our idea is to utilize Necker Island as a station after the work has been completed, and from there connection could be readily had with Honolulu," said he.

A War Vessel for Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—A dispatch to the effect that Premier Hatch of Hawaii, just arrived at San Francisco, requests the United States Government to send a war vessel to the Islands, has very naturally excited much talk here. Secretary Gresham and other officials of the State Department decline to be interviewed on the subject, but the suggestion, whether based upon fact or not, has given rise to much gossip and speculation and will probably cause discussion in Congress. The Administration is opposed to the idea of sending any war vessel to Hawaii, and while it seems to be content that the British should do it. Possibly the failure of his plans in reference to Hawaii has made him indifferent as to the affairs of the Islands. The Republicans criticize him severely on account of what they deem to be

Cleveland and the Cable.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The message of President Cleveland in favor of allowing Great Britain the privilege of leasing one of the Hawaiian Islands to establish telegraphic communication with British Columbia has excited much comment in view of the fact that in 1888 he urged so strongly the construction of the United States cable. Now he seems to be content that the British should do it. Possibly the failure of his plans in reference to Hawaii has made him indifferent as to the affairs of the Islands. The Republicans criticize him severely on account of what they deem to be a change of front on his part, and the deadly parallel is to figure in speeches to be delivered, when former messages on the same subject will be sharply contrasted.

The officials of the State Department are singularly reticent as to all matters affecting the new Republic of the Pacific, and every one from Secretary Gresham down to the humblest clerk affects an air of mystery that is impenetrable when Hawaii is mentioned. The visit of Minister Hatch to this country is studied with considerable eagerness and interesting developments are quite certain to follow.

Portuguese for Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Minister Thurston of Hawaii, who has returned to the city from his European trip, states that a party of 300 Portuguese will start for Hawaii on Friday of this week, which will make 14,000 of their countrymen already there. Minister Thurston says that he has private advices which state that a large number of the more prominent of the ex-queen's followers have taken the oath of allegiance to the new Government.

PRINCESS OF SPANISH BLOOD.

A Cousin of the Infanta Dies On This Island.

Her Mother Married a Brother of the Empress of China—A Correspondent Gives the Facts.

Mary Regina Holi died at Koolauloa, this island, on Saturday. If the story sent in by a correspondent is true the dead woman was of royal blood and is a fall cousin of the present Infanta of Spain. It was not generally known that this island furnished a home for a member of the Spanish royal family, but it seems that it has.

The correspondent says that Princess Mary Regina was born in Spain in 1854. She came of an old Spanish family. Her mother was a princess and was an aunt of the present Infanta. She married Ping Lee Chan, who was said to be a brother of the Emperor of China. They had three daughters, the eldest of whom was Mary Regina. The father died on May 14, 1847.

The princess was educated in England and talked seven different languages. She came to this country in 1865 and married B. K. Holi two years later. She leaves four daughters and two sons. One of the sons is a Kamelameha scholar.

EARTHQUAKE LAST NIGHT.

Most Severe Shock Felt for Many Years.

The "oldest inhabitant" was called into service last night by the earthquake shock, which was felt throughout the city and at Waialua. It was the most severe shock that has been felt on this island for many years.

The vibrations were first felt at ten seconds before 10 o'clock; a second and heavier shock being experienced after an interval of thirty seconds. The waves passed from the sea towards the mountains in a north-easterly direction.

At the Hawaiian Hotel several guests were chatting on the veranda, and a group of loungers was conversing in the office. They were all suddenly interrupted by a strange rumbling sound that seemed to come from the chambers on the second story. It sounded as if an elephant were shaking itself after the manner of a dog. An elderly guest came down stairs, two steps at a time, and everybody talked to everybody else about the sensation. "It's an earthquake, and she's a daisy," said one of the loungers. The general opinion was that news would be heard of increased activity in the volcano.

The employees of this paper lost no time in getting outside the building while the shock was on, and for a time all work was suspended.

ROYALIST CABINET ALL NAMED.

Rudolph Spreckels Said to Have Supplied Money for Arms.

NEW CONSTITUTION ALL READY.

Nowlein and Bertelmann Tell All About the Rebellion.

WALKER TO TAKE POLICE STATION

Gulick Was To Be Marshal—Both Ashford and Remembered—Revolutionists Had All Details of New Government Arranged—Gulick, Rickard and Seward Were Chief Engineers in the Movement—Nowlein Tells of the Courage of White Royalists—Johnny Bowler Was to Go Into the Field.

One of the most interesting points brought out in yesterday's testimony before the Military Commission was that given by John Cummins, implicating Rudolph Spreckels in the plans of the rebel leaders. It was not altogether unexpected and created an "I told you so" impression about town, rather than any great surprise.

When the Court opened, the audience that had gathered to listen to the morning proceedings was composed largely of ladies. They gave every appearance of being quite as interested in the sessions of the Court as the men who went to the field.

After the reading of the minutes of Monday's session, Judge-Advocate Kinney called John Cummins to the witness stand. Mr. Cummins stated that his presence as a witness was at his own request, no threats or promises from the Government having been used to influence him in any way. He came to tell his story of what he knew of the events during, and previous to the rebellion.

Mr. Cummins stated that he first knew that arms were to be brought to the country on the evening of December 3d, the day when Major Seward returned from the Coast. This statement was afterward modified, Mr. Cummins calling to mind a visit received from Nowlein some two weeks before Seward's arrival. Nowlein came to my house and asked me if I had any guns. I said yes, and pointed to some arms which I had. Mr. Nowlein said, "When the time comes I want them," to which I replied that I wanted them for my own protection. Nowlein then said that the "old man" would be back and that he had gone to the Coast to get arms.

When Seward returned I told him I had heard that he had been after arms, and asked as to the success of his work. He said that he had not done the work himself, but had seen that it had been done and, generally speaking, had been very successful. He said the last he had seen of the arms, they were on a tugboat being transferred to a schooner that had gone to sea. Seward took the steamer from San Francisco a few days later.

I told Seward I was very sorry he had mixed up in the affair, as I feared it would make trouble for my family. Seward replied, "Don't be afraid; all the blame will be put on me." I then told him that suspicion would be cast on me because of his being so intimate with the family.

I asked Seward about the money with which the work was done, and he said he had received a letter from the Queen telling him to go to California, where Mr. Spreckels would furnish him with the necessary funds. I think it was Rudolph Spreckels; I understood the Queen had given Seward a letter to Rudolph Spreckels asking him to assist Seward in his work. I did not see the letter.

I remarked that Spreckels had been in this country and had just returned to San Francisco. Seward then said a Mr. Folliott did the work. Witness said he knew Folliott; he, with Spreckels and others, having been at his house; didn't know what his business was. No one in the family but myself knew of what was going on.

After this conversation, Sunday and Monday passed without any event of note. On Tuesday the boy brought a horse from Koolau. Johnny Keoka said that on the previous Saturday Seward had spoken to him; said Seward told him to go to a little island and watch for a schooner. Shortly after this talk we three met; I told Johnny he was doing something very improper. At this time
